LBJ Arrives In Hawaii For Viet Conference

Meetings Scheduled For Today

HONOLULU (AP)—President Johnson arrived Saturday night for a three-day review of the war in Viet Nam with top officials from Washington, Pearl Harbor, and Saigon.

Johnson's blue-and-white jet landed at Honolulu International Airport at 6:39 p.m. HST (11:39 p.m. EST) after a 5,000-mile, non-stop flight from Washington.

Joining the President here Sunday will be Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam and Nguyen Van Thieu, the country's chief of state. They will accompany U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge from Saigon.

This is Johnson's first journey as President outside continental North America.

No major policy changes were considered likely to emerge from the meetings.

Arriving with Johnson were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Maxwell Taylor, former U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Already in Honolulu for the sessions are Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, and Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp Jr., the Pacific military commander.

Johnson said the conference would give him "a chance to review... our complete program there."

As Johnson put it at a news conference Friday:

"I wouldn't want to anticipate getting off and making any changes one way or another. I wouldn't say that we wouldn't learn some things from the meeting that would cause us either to improve the situation or strengthen it, but I would not want you to anticipate that the purpose of the meeting was to formulate any different policy at all, because that is not the purpose."

Long in Planning

Administration sources said the President had had such a trip in mind for some time and had been looking for an opportunity to fit it into his schedule.

Johnson could have asked the South Vietnamese leaders to come to Washington. But his journeying to Hawaii presumably is calculated as a personal demonstration of U.S. backing for the Saigon government.

Also, he presumably wants to give Asia and the rest of the world a picture of the U.S. president conferring with the Saigon leaders as equals. The standard Communist line is that they are Washington's puppets.

Still another psychological factor may be a desire to reassure Ky and Thieu that Johnson's wide-ranging peace offensive, which has apparently been viewed with wary skepticism among many South Vietnamese, is not designed as a sellout to the Communists.

Domestically, the trip for the time being at least stole some of the thunder from critics of the U.S. course on Viet Nam, who have been increasingly vocal in recent Senate hearings.

Soon after the President's departure, Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, issued a statement which said, in part:

"We applaud the idea of trying to find solutions to problems, but it is reckless and foolish for the commander in chief, accompanied by four Cabinet officers and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to take himself so far from the capital and power center of the United States in these critical times."

The President took with him several persons the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has indicated it wants to question in its searching inquiry into Viet Nam. They include Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and former ambassador to South Viet Nam; and Deputy Undersecretary of State U. Alexis Johnson.

New Move Thwarts Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's efforts to dom up the torrent of senatorial criticism of his Viet Nam policies appear likely to be only temporarily successful.

The President's flight to Hawaii to review the Viet Nam war with South Vietnamese and American officials for the time being has dimmed the bright light of publicity in which his critics were firing their salvos.

His direction to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, not to testify in public sessions has denied some Senate Foreign Relations Committee members the opportunity to air publicly their differences with these top-level strategists.

His decision to have Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador to Saigon and a presidential adviser, accompany him to Honolulu left the free-wheeling committee without an administration advocate at whom to direct cross-fire Monday.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright offered the administration a chance to state its case first—subject, of course, to critical interrogation.

When McNamara was asked to testify Monday, he begged off because of a previous engagement. He suggested Taylor for the spot. Taylor agreed, but Johnson nullified that arrangement by including the general in the Hawaiian trip.

The State Department is reported to have suggested U. Alexis Johnson, deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs, as a Tuesday witness. But the President wanted Johnson to go along to Hawaii, too.

"Off the Firing Line"

Practically no one concerned credits all of these presidential actions to happenstance. The general feeling in the Senate is that Johnson moved to lower the heat being directed at him through his associates by taking them off the firing line.

But the expected pause in criticism from those who fear the President may be taking irreversible steps which might lead to all-out war in Asia may be relatively brief.

The foreign relations group will resume its public hearings Tuesday with retired Gen. James M. Gavin on the stand. Gavin has said the United States should stand pat in areas it now holds, enclaves in which it has an air base, a seaport and troops.

Gavin will be followed to the stand by George Kennan, former State Department expert on Communist affairs, who is critical of Johnson's course in Viet Nam.

U.S. Troops Close In On Cong Strongholds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The gap in two massive American drives to clear Viet Cong from long-held strongholds on the central coast narrowed to about three miles Saturday night.

Opposition was so light as to suggest the last of the enemy's hard core regiments had ducked into the hills. Local guerrillas alone seemed to contest broadening of the allied enclaves that crowd them back from the sea.

The climax should come while President Johnson confers in Hawaii this weekend with the leaders of Saigon's military government and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam.

Raiders Continue

U.S. bombers blasted at Communist targets both north and south of the border. B52 jets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. servicemen and five Vietnamese were killed Saturday night when a Claymore mine exploded in a bar in Vinh Long city about 60 miles southwest of Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman said.

Sixteen persons, including six Americans, were wounded. The Viet Cong terrorist who left the mine on a table in the crowded bar was later found and shot to death by members of a Vietnamese counter terrorist squad.

The spokesman gave this account:

The Viet Cong entered the bar about 9 p.m., talked to two Vietnamese, placed the Claymore mine on a table, and then left by the rear door.

Once outside, the terrorist encountered a small group of Vietnamese and hurled a hand grenade which wounded three persons in the group.

Seconds later the Claymore mine exploded.

Among the 10 Vietnamese wounded inside the bar were the two men with whom the terrorist had spoken. The two were questioned at length by military authorities. The extent of their wounds was not immediately determined.

It was believed that information provided by the pair aided members of the counter terrorist squad in tracking down the Viet Cong bomber. At any rate, he was recognized later by persons from the bar and shot to death.

A Claymore mine is an explosive device whose aim can be directed toward a specific area. It is often used by Viet Cong terrorists who time it to explode a minute or so after an initial explosion draws a crowd of police and onlookers.

from Guam loosed tons of explosives on guerrilla hideouts about 40 miles southeast of Saigon.

Briefing officers announced Navy planes from the carriers Ranger and Kitty Hawk struck a North Vietnamese military target, otherwise unidentified, about 30 miles north of Vinh, and an ammunition depot near the coast only 20 miles above the border.

Radio Hanoi broadcast a declaration that a Communist air force unit—which presumably means fighter planes—shot down two U.S. jets Friday. A U.S. spokesman denied it.

U.S. Marines and air cavalrymen neared a union on the coast, 300 miles northeast of Saigon to cap their respective offensives—Operation Double Eagle and Operation Masher.

Marines were the striking force and cavalrymen the key

Job Corps Revisions In Making

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Job Corps, apparently heading into new criticism in Congress, has slowed its pace and plans a searching look at its programs for troubled teen-agers.

"The experimental phase is continuing, but the drive to get something going is gone," Director Franklin M. Johnson said. "Now we are trying to find out what works best, and improve on it. And trying to change what doesn't work."

In a joint interview, Johnson and his new deputy, David F. Squire, said Saturday the most severe test faced yet by the year-old program was the Christmas holiday when a sizelement of the holding force in this maneuver. It was launched Friday with thus far unrealized hopes of locating and smashing two elusive Red units—North Viet Nam's 18th Regiment and the Viet Cong's hardcore 2nd Wing.

Three U.S. Marine battalions pushed southward into Binh Dinh province adjoining Quang Ngai Province and one radioed that it reached a point only 5,000 or 6,000 yards from the cavalry outpost.

Marines probing mountainous terrain on the western flank of this drive said they killed two Viet Cong and captured another. All three were described as local guerrillas.

Suffer Few Losses

The Leathernecks are among thousands who stormed ashore in Quang Ngai Province Jan. 26 in the greatest amphibious landing since Inchon in the Korean War. Resistance from the start was light. So were casualties.

However, Viet Cong snipers hit 21 Marine helicopters and shot down two. Both were recovered.

Vietnamese government troops and militiamen worked in coordination with the Marines near Quang Ngai city, 50 miles north of Bong Son.

U.S. sources said militiamen killed 17 Viet Cong in a skirmish 10 miles south of Quang Ngai and Vietnamese regulars captured three in an area seven miles farther south. The troops were reported to have taken

Russ Tells Details Of Luna 9 Flight

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Saturday night showed its own people pictures of the moon's surface and for the first time gave details about the structure and flight of history-making Luna 9.

The rest of the world had already seen the pictures a day before, thanks to an intercept by Britain's Jodrell Bank telescope, but found out what the space station was like at the same time as the Russians.

The Kremlin's space chief charged that Britain made the pictures public from "certain motives of a sensational nature."

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the British observatory, replied through a spokesman that the pictures were of such international importance that their immediate release was justified.

Weight Given

The Russians also disclosed details about Luna 9 for the first time. They said the space station weighed 3,482.6 pounds—almost two tons—and contained a television system insuring a 360-degree view and transmission of pictures to the earth.

Tass said Luna 9—details of which have been secret until now—consisted of the automatic station itself, which was safely landed on the moon softly enough for its apparatuses to continue to function.

It said this was an airtight container holding a radio system, a program-timer, a system of thermo-regulation, energy supply sources and the picture system.

TV Protected

The Soviet news agency said antennas were mounted on the outside set to open automatically after the station settled on the ground, with a shock-absorbing system, and petal-like screens of metal to protect the television unit during landing.

It said that just before landing the space station detached itself from the engine and the two units landed at some distance from one another.

Tass also gave the first details of Luna 9's flight pattern.

It said that in the first phase, which began Jan. 31, Luna 9 was launched as an earth satellite. Its engine was designed to speed up later.

On the second stage, it was put on a trajectory to the moon. The third stage was the correction of the flight trajectory insuring that the station would land in the prechosen area of the Sea of Storms.

The fourth stage was the braking and soft landing.

Quake In Greece Kills 1, Leaves Many Homeless

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—A pre-dawn earthquake struck north-central Greece Saturday, killing one person, injuring 20 seriously and leaving hundreds, perhaps thousands, homeless.

The Greek government declared the area from Larisa in northern Greece south to Karpension in a state of emergency.

Greek military rescue units raced to reach badly hit villages before nightfall over snow-covered roads. Some roads were reported blocked by landslides caused by the sharp tremors that hit just after 4 a.m. More than 20 tremors had been felt up to noon, and lighter ones continued into the afternoon and night.

Supplies from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization air base in Larisa were being flown to the area.

Michael Galinos, minister of social welfare, hurried to the area by helicopter to coordinate operations.

A ministry spokesman said hundreds would have to spend the night in the open unless tents could be distributed in time.

Karditsa police said residents of surrounding villages appeared to be stunned as they stumbled through ruins of one-story farm dwellings. Livestock roamed unattended as villagers took refuge in schools and churches.

Many homes were buried under tons of earth and rock from landslides. Others collapsed. The low casualty toll was attributed to a light warning tremor that got most residents out of their homes before a second, sharp, tremor shook the region.

The only death reported up to nightfall was a 30-year-old mother of six children who was caught beneath her falling ceiling. Her children escaped injury.

WIPCO Generating Plant Sets Target For July Operation

Western Illinois Power Cooperative, Inc., took giant steps during the past year and is now nearing commercial operation which will bring low-cost power to cooperative member-owners throughout west central Illinois.

That was the report given by Dean Searls, president of the board of directors, at the cooperative's sixth annual meeting in Jacksonville Wednesday.

The board heard that final stages of construction are being pushed so that the generating plant on the Illinois River at Pearl can begin operation by July 1, 1966.

"WIPCO is well on the road toward success and there will be many benefits to the seven member distribution cooperatives seeking reliable, low-cost power," Searls said.

Searls is manager of Adams Electrical Co-operative at Camp Point, one of the seven member systems. The other six are Illinois Rural Electric Co., Winchester; M. J.M. Electric Cooperative, Inc., Carlinville; Menard Electric Cooperative, Petersburg; Rural Electric Convenience Cooperative Co., Auburn; Spoon River Electric Cooperative, Inc., Canton; and Western Illinois Electrical Coop., Carthage.

Final Contracts Awarded
About 40 persons representing the seven distribution cooperatives attended the meeting in the Blackhawk Restaurant. They heard WIPCO Manager Donald B. Bringman report that the last of the 34 contracts for construction of the steam generating plant have been awarded.

Most of the contracted work has been completed, he said, and the plant is now totally enclosed.

The manager said substations have been completed at Berlin, Brussels, Kampsville, Lanesville and Winchester. Much of the 69-Kilovolt transmission lines have been built, and the remaining line sections will be completed within one or two months, Bringman added.

He said the future will bring continuing work for the generation and transmission cooperative as power demands of cooperative member-owners continue to increase.

During the meeting, John Root, manager of Menard Electric Cooperative, was elected to the board of directors. Thirteen other directors were re-elected. They are Searls, John Sargent, Rushville R.R. 1; F. J. Longmeyer, Greenfield; S. R. Faris, Winchester; Carl Bloome, Carlinville r.r. 2; Charles W. Witt, Carlinville; Homer T. Brown, New Holland r.r. 1; Walter H. Johnston, Girard; Ralph V. White, Auburn; F. Leonard Clark, Astoria; L. C. Groat, Canton; Harold S. Huey, Plymouth; and Lee Leonard, Carthage.

Following the business meeting, the board reorganized and re-elected its officers. They are Searls, president; Brown, vice president; Huey, secretary-treasurer; and Faris, assistant secretary-treasurer.

U.S. MINT MEETING COIN SHORTAGE

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — For quite a while now half dollars in many parts of the country have been as scarce as silver dollars.

Hand the clerk a dollar bill for a purchase of less than 50 cents and usually you still get two quarters in change.

Now the U.S. Mint in Denver is working around the clock seven days a week in trying to meet the shortage by rolling out new half dollars.

These have been in production since Dec. 31, along with the mint's continued output, though in lesser volume, of pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters.

Behind the shortage of old half dollars, says bankers and mint officials, is the same reason as for the shortage of dollar "cartwheels"—hoarding for the silver in the coins.

There is at least 50 per cent less reason for anyone's hoarding new halves. These contain 40 per cent silver compared to 90 per cent in previously minted 50-cent pieces. The new coins are stamped with the late President John F. Kennedy's profile as are those minted the last two years.

ANNOUNCE SALE OF TANKS TO ISREAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Saturday the United States has sold Patton tanks to Israel.

The number of U.S. tanks shipped to the Middle East county was not disclosed. Reliable sources said, however, the figure was in the neighborhood of 200.

U.S. sources said the military sales deal was made about one year ago.

State Department press officer Marshall Wright made the announcement after publication in Cairo of a report that U.S. tanks had gone to Israel.

He said the Soviet Union had made massive arms sales in the Middle East. Egypt, Syria and Iraq are reported to have received substantial Soviet arms.

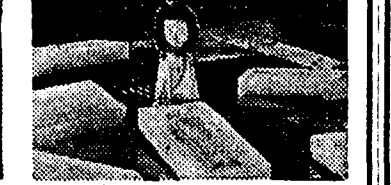

The United States, while attempting to limit the Middle East arms race, but at the same time maintain a balance, has also sent tanks to Jordan and anti-aircraft missiles to Saudi Arabia and Israel, Wright said.

Jordan, Israel's neighbor, reportedly received about 100 Patton tanks last year.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:
SALE OF THE COUNTY FARM — The County Poor House farm, consisting of 44 acres, within the corporation limits, was sold at public auction on last Saturday. The tract, with its valuable improvements, was bid off by Messrs. Askew & Springer, real estate agents, at $13,375.

We learn that the purchasers will immediately subdivide the tract into town lots and offer them for sale.

The former county farm extended from an alley across the Institute for the Blind east to Johnson, from East State street to College street, now known as Beecher avenue. The 24 lots known as Spaulding Place sold readily, but Askew & Springer had lots to sell for years in the future.

NEW BANKING HOUSE—The new banking office of Hockenull, King & Elliott, one door south of Hockenull's drug store, east side of the square, is now open for business. The gentlemen connected with this new banking institution are well and favorably known to the citizens of Morgan, giving to their enterprise a strong prestige, and ensuring the confidence of the public.

ERRATA — In summing up the amount in dollars, of the congressional appropriation of lands for the State Industrial College, the types made us say that the amount was six millions of dollars. It should have been six hundred thousand dollars.

Eight carloads of mules were shipped out of this city last week. These mules, all turned of 3 years old, were bought at an average of $125 each.

From the Jacksonville Journal:
HE'S AGIN IT! — In noting the passage by Congress of the Negro suffrage bill the editor of the Rushville TIMES comments: "We honor and respect the fifty-four gentlemen who voted against the measure, because they have a care for the views of the people; but the English language fails to furnish words sufficiently strong for us to express our contempt for the one hundred and sixteen mean, thievish, good-for-nothing, psalm-singing, hypocritical, hell-deserving Puritans, thieves, scoundrels, murderers, dogs, villains, liars and traitors who voted for the measure."

A SWINDLE — We learn from Quincy that the "Soldier's Orphan School Gift Enterprise" has turned out what we expected it to be, a hoax and a humbug, or even worse, a swindle. The Agent in this city, an innocent party, will be a loser to a small amount. He happens to still hold most of the money received by him for tickets sold, and will refund it to those holding tickets on presentation of same. The Rev. swindler, who played this game, should be sent to the penitentiary for life.

IMPORTANT — It is very important that all advertisements and local items intended for the JOURNAL should be handed in on Tuesday or earlier. This week we are delayed in going to press a whole day on account of the matter brought in on Wednesday. Remember this.

Fred Douglass, the renowned

Negro orator, has made arrangements with Sigma Pi Society to deliver a lecture before them in Strawn's Hall, on the evening of Feb. 23rd. Subject: "The Assassination and its Lessons."

From the Carrollton Gazette:
See the hoop skirt advertisement in another column.

Mr. Hamilton, principal of the district-school at Whitehall, delivered a lecture at that place on "Education," on Monday night last. So we are told.

We are informed that William Batchelder will not at present take charge of the telegraph office at this point, but the position will be filled by a young man eminently qualified, whose name we are not familiar with.

A new locomotive for our road passed through town on Tuesday last and has emblazoned on its sides, D. M. Woodson, an honor shown him as the first president of the road.

The railroad company here is now engaged in excavating a well 20 feet broad and 30 feet deep, over which they will erect a handsome tank-house.

We notice some very nice changes and improvements at the bank under the direction of the cashier, Mr. Robert Piereson. Bob is up to the latest styles and will not be beat by any.

The Chinese in the colony of Victoria, Australia, are once every two years called upon to convey 500 bodies to China, that number representing the rate of mortality among a certain class of celestials on the gold fields to whom the privilege of interment in Chinese soil is specially granted.

The Aborigines of Australia are fast dying out, from the same cause which leads to the decay of the American Indians — rum. Only 59 couples now remain of a once powerful tribe.

Many railroad travelers in England now carry keys to lock and unlock railway carriages, so that they may let themselves out in cases of emergency, and lock themselves in. The keys carried by some noblemen and gentlemen are made of silver.

HUMORS of the day

February, 1866

"Toby, what did the Israelites do when they crossed the Red Sea?"

"I don't know, ma'am, but I guess they dried themselves." A lady who lost her spectacles three years ago found them, not long since, while dusting the family Bible.

Man was created a little lower than the angels, and he has been getting a little lower ever since.

A poor darkey, who was sent to jail for marrying two wives, excused himself by saying that when he had one wife she fought him, but when he had two they fought each other.

86-Year-Old Woman Among First Tourists To South Pole Region

EDITOR'S NOTE — The first tourist venture into Antarctica ends this week. The oldest of the 57 passengers aboard the Argentine navy cruise ship La Patagonia is 86-year-old Bessie Sweeney of Washington, D.C., mother of the president of New York's Explorers Club. One of the Antarctic mountain ranges is named for him. Here she tells what it is like to be a tourist in the frozen continent.

By BESSIE C. SWEENEY
Written for
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ABOARD THE SS LA PATAGONIA (AP) — I have traveled all over the world and seen many countries, people and customs. But for many years my dream had been to visit Antarctica, the continent which until now has been open only to the explorer.

My son, Ed Sweeney, who is also the president of the Explorers Club, has a mountain range named after him in Edith Ronne Land.

I am now 86 years old and I had resigned myself to never being able to see that icy continent which covers the area around the South Pole. Then I learned that Lars-Eric Lindblad was planning an expedition to Antarctica which would be available to tourists.

I was the first to sign up. Now we are nearing the end of our Antarctic tourist expedition.

tion and I have been able to see some of the most beautiful parts of that frozen continent in all their glory. The ice, the glaciers, the fabulous mountain peaks, penguins, antarctic birds — and even the sea elephants and sea leopards.

I can say without hesitation that Antarctica is the most beautiful part of the world. I can say the trip through the Le Maire Strait in splendid sunshine is the highlight of all my travels around the world, and my fellow travelers agree with me on this.

I have also been fortunate enough to be allowed to see for myself how the scientists of Argentina, Britain and the United States work in the fields of marine biology, meteorology and other sciences.

I have been able to go ashore at such famous Antarctic landmarks as Melchior, Almirante Brown, Goussard, Deception Island, Hope Bay. I can say I navigated the Weddell Sea and stopped over at such places as Potter Cove and Half Moon.

We have had cold days with strong winds. Thanks to the clothing provided, I have always been warm and have not suffered frostbite or worse things—as did the early Antarctic explorers.

One of the highlights of the trip for me was holding a pen-guin in my arms, stroking his chest and observing him relax and even enjoy being petted.

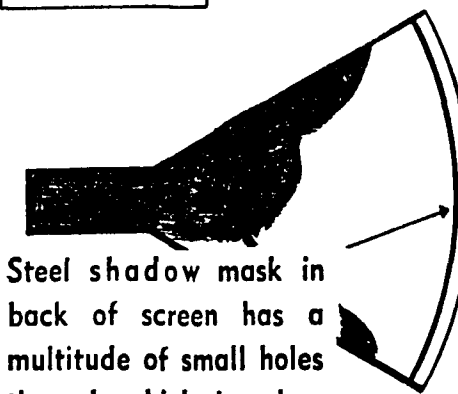

I also rode through the snow and ice on a snowcat at the Argentine army base at Hope Bay where we also had the opportunity to travel on dogsleds.

I have also been able to see for myself some of the dangers of Antarctic exploration. The pack ice, for example, I Meredosa-Chambersburg school watched it close in around our ship in the Antarctic Straits, forcing us to leave immediately or get imprisoned.

Then I saw it again, crowding us threateningly deep in the Weddell Sea, at the edge of the Antarctic Circle, which we could not penetrate because of the dangers it posed.

IN GLORIOUS COLOR (Maybe!)

Shadow Mask

Steel shadow mask in back of screen has a multitude of small holes through which impulses are fired toward the screen.

Convergence

Three electron guns converge in each tiny hole . . .

... so they will hit proper triad (set of three different color dots) exactly on target.

Degaussing

Shadow mask may become magnetized, disturbing picture. In extreme cases, built-in degaussers (demagnetizers) can't handle and repair man will have to use special coil.

SOAP FOR VIET NAM — Two members of the County Cavaliers Motorcycle Club are shown mailing 150 pounds of soap for civilian use in Viet Nam. Postmaster Phillip Day, left, marks up postage on the soap to slightly less than $28 while Mrs. Frank Slagle and Mrs. Harvey McGlasson stand by. The soap is distributed by military units in Viet Nam among civilians who need it. The soap project is one of the motorcycle club's projects.

We have been constantly escorted by the Navy tug Irigoyen, and the Argentine icebreaker San Martin has never been far away, always watching over us. We visited the San Martin once, and we were the first outsiders to meet with the Argentine team of army officers who traveled by snowcats and dog teams to the South Pole and back.

Next I will be going to the North Pole, and then I will be back down here — in the Antarctic ice.

APPROVE SPECIAL READING PROGRAM

MEREDOSIA — A federally sponsored special reading program has been approved for the pack ice, for example, I Meredosa-Chambersburg school watched it close in around our ship in the Antarctic Straits, forcing us to leave immediately or get imprisoned.

Mrs. Barbara Miller of Versailles has been employed as instructor. Classroom space has been obtained in the elementary school building. The program is designed to help financially and educationally deprived students.

The resignation of Mrs. Armida Fisch was accepted. The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers, elected to serve for the coming year: chairman, Mrs. Marvin Schnake; first vice-chairman, Mrs. William Wubker; second vice-chairman, Mrs. Homer Hendrick; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Melvin Dufelmeier.

Mrs. Oliver Meyer was in charge of recreation.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Inez Fielder on Feb. 22, at 1:30 p.m. Miss Eileen Fiedler will be the assistant hostess.

FOUNDER'S DAY banquet for Bethel A.M.E. church was held Wednesday evening at Grace Methodist church. The banquet featured Dr. S. S. Morris, Jr., (second from left) pastor of Coppin Memorial, a Chicago African Methodist Episcopal church. Mayor Byron Holkenbros, left, extended greetings on behalf of the city to the church which was founded in 1816. Rev. Robert L. Cox, second from right, and H. B. Norton, right, pastor's steward, took part in the program. A large audience, composed of Jacksonville citizens and members of the church, were on hand for the program at the four dollars a plate banquet.

The board passed on a motion to have C. J. Schlosser and Co. of Alton do the city audit.

A lengthy discussion was held relative to enforcement of the hour parking ordinance in the business district. The Council decided to hire a man to direct traffic at the intersection of Main and Sherman Streets during the hours the intersection is used by school children.

The recent acts of vandalism at Stickley Park were brought to the Council's attention and it was voted to install flood lights in an effort to curb this vandalism.

The first career soldier to become president of the United States was Zachary Taylor, 12th president. He spent 40 years in the army, of which 25 were devoted to frontier duty against the Indians and he served with distinction in the Mexican War in 1846 and 1847. Washington, Jackson and Harrison all had distinguished military careers, but this was not their chief profession.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week took its sharpest decline of 1966 despite scattered blue-chip strength toward the end of the week.

The market sank Monday and Tuesday when bombing was renewed in North Vietnam and the United States moved to get the Viet Nam crisis to the United Nations conference table.

This resulted in considerable confusion which was made worse by the decline of American Telephone through a support level of 60 down to a new low.

At week's end Telephone perked up and ended the week with a net gain of 1 1/2. This was attributed to some encouraging words from the FCC official who is presiding over the rate investigation.

The Monday and Tuesday sessions were big losers although General Motors reported a 23 per cent gain in profits over 1964 and the greatest net income ever piled up by any corporation.

Wednesday saw a brisk recovery, also linked chiefly to technical factors, among them the drying up of selling as the Dow Jones industrial average approached a theoretical support level near 970.

"Things started slowing and inching up on Friday but leadership at AT&T. Ford which reported record quarterly sales and income, and GM inspired many other key stocks.

Of 1,578 issues traded this week, 888 fell and 74 rose. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 2.7 to 355.8.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 1.00 to 986.35. AT&T is included in the list of 30 industrials and its strength was influential in the rise.

Prices of bonds in all major segments of the market declined, responding to the resumption of bombing in North Viet Nam.

On the New York Stock Exchange bond volume for the week totaled a par value of $81.49 million.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—Butcher hogs sold up to $30 a hundredweight or more on three of the five marketing days last week but prices declined after mid-week and fell to a top of $29.50 on Friday.

The top of $30.25 paid on Wednesday was the highest in almost three weeks. The week's supply of 22,500 head was the smallest of the year, down 2,000 from a week earlier.

For the week, barrows and gilts sold 25 to 50 cents lower with the average price estimated at $28.50 a hundredweight compared with $28.31 the previous week and $17.09 a year ago.

In the cattle market, slaughter steers were strong to 50 cents higher for the week. On Friday, a few loads of strictly prime grade topped at $28.50, the highest since Dec. 13.

Cattle supplies both locally and at the 12 major terminals declined moderately from the previous week. The Chicago cut amounted to 25,300 head compared with 28,700 last week. Prices of woolled slaughter lambs were steady to 25 cents higher.

Candidates Eye House Seat Left By John Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — The race for Mayor John V. Lindsay's old seat in Congress looks like a tossup between Democrat Orin Lehman and Republican Theodore Kupferman.

Tuesday's winner in what may be the nation's most sophisticated district probably will depend on the most basic politics: which organization can get out the most votes?

The voters, in this case, include many of the nation's top public figures — politicians, actors, writers, artists, musicians, businessmen and intellectuals.

Of course, most of the 200,000-plus voters are middle class or poorer. Lots of them are Bohemians.

This "Silk Stocking" district, running from Greenwich Village up through Manhattan's East Side, is 3-1 Democratic. But it elected Republican Lindsay four times.

In such a district, both Lehman and Kupferman are playing down their party backing and proclaiming their political independence.

The third man in the race, Conservative Jeffrey St. John, 35, is outdoing them in this subject, however. He says he's a "man like myself and no one else."

Lindsay has endorsed Kupferman, although he says he won't "have a nonpartisan fusion (city) administration."

Kupferman, 45, a city councilman and law partner of Lindsay's campaign manager, says he is a man like Lindsay. He says the issue is whether "to continue Lindsay's constructive opposition and political independence."

Lehman, 46, is a reform Democrat and grand-nephew of that pioneer reformer, the late Gov. Herbert Lehman. He has the support of both Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

In his first try for elective office last year, Lehman was narrowly defeated for city comptroller in the Democratic primary. He later supported the Democratic ticket headed by party regular Abraham Beame, but only after Beame assured him he would have no truck with "bossism."

The campaign has been dominated by the Viet Nam issue, although Kupferman and Lehman seem to substantially agree: get out with honor soonest.

Both Kupferman and Lehman opposed resumption of bombing of North Viet Nam — as did Lindsay. Lehman said, however, he would have been for it if there were unusual circumstances, like a Chinese entry into the war.

After one joint appearance, when both men agreed they didn't differ materially on Viet Nam any more, Kupferman said: "The difference is, he's LBJ's boy, and I'm not."

Meetings Geologist Says Lunar Lava Beds May Hold Metals

Also on the presidential plane were Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who told the Senate committee Friday they do not choose to testify at public hearings, and Foreign Aid Director David E. Bell, who was questioned all day Friday.

The White House, however, took some pains to discount that the trip was arranged suddenly to draw attention away from the Senate hearings.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said the journey has been in the works since last Sept. 17.

Again on Jan. 17, Moyers said, Johnson expressed to William Porter, deputy ambassador to Saigon, a desire to talk with the South Viet Nam leaders.

At the time, Porter told newsmen that Johnson planned to send Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Asst. Secretary of Welfare Francis Keppel to Saigon.

Since Freeman and others were planning to go to South Viet Nam and General Westmoreland already is in Hawaii, Moyers continued, "all the pieces fit together" and Johnson decided to go.

Johnson cited the inclusion of Freeman and Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner in the conferences as pointing up a desire to emphasize the aim of shoring up the economy of South Viet Nam and making it a more viable state.

Johnson expects to return to the capital late Tuesday or Wednesday.

Among others flying with him Saturday were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and presidential aides Moyers, Jack Valenti and Marvin Watson.

A second plane load of officials will take off Sunday. Among them will be Freeman, Gardner, Keppel, Bundy and Bell.

A late addition to the presidential plane Saturday was the 17-year-old daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Westmoreland, Katherine, who is a senior at the National Cathedral School for Girls in Washington.

Moyers said that when the President learned she was in the capital, he had an invitation extended to her to make the trip and "she seemed to be very happy about it."

U.S. Troops

light casualties during four contacts.

Ground action elsewhere was light.

A company of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division figured in a skirmish in the Cu Chi area 20 miles northwest of Saigon.

A Viet Cong unit struck from camouflaged trenches and snipers, exploding rifle grenades among the Americans.

The guerrillas fired on medical evacuation helicopters and wounded the pilot of one. The company's casualties were described as light to moderate.

The infantrymen said they inflicted a heavy toll on the Viet Cong, but there was no estimate of the number.

There were antiwar demonstrations abroad.

West Berlin police broke up a group of about 50 leftist students, who staged a sit-down around the flagpole of the U.S. American Cultural Center at the end of a march protesting U.S. actions in Viet Nam.

Some threw eggs at the building's front. Others had lowered the U.S. flag to half staff.

In Buenos Aires, Argentine Communists hurled tar bombs against the downtown offices of the U.S. Embassy Friday night.

Two policemen guarding the building were beaten. Three demonstrators were arrested.

The Rhode Island Committee for Peace in Viet Nam and the Providence Peace Action Committee sponsored a vigil in front of the City Hall in Providence, R.I. The demonstrators continued the picketing after a night in which one group of youths tore up some of their signs and another group pelted them with snowballs.

Geologist Says Lunar Lava Beds May Hold Metals

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP)—Russia's moon-landed Luna 9 spacecraft may be sitting on a gold mine.

The sharply defined surface pictures transmitted by Luna 9 show a glassy volcanic lava bed like many found in California, lunar geologist Harold Masursky said Saturday.

A study of the pictures seems to prove beyond doubt that volcanoes have exploded over vast areas of the moon and may still be active in some sectors, Masursky said.

Masursky works with the astrophysics branch of the U.S. Geological Survey. His group is helping on advance planning for the American effort to land astronauts on the moon.

He said the lava flow type indicated in the pictures often is associated with veins of gold and other metals on earth.

The veins result when boiling metal is thrust into lava fissures from the earth's hot, pressurized interior.

Masursky suggested the same thing may have happened on the moon.

He said it's possible that some day men may be mining gold on the moon.

Masursky classified the material identifiable in Luna 9's closeup pictures as scoriaceous lava debris.

He described it as a crunchy, glassy stuff that quickly would cut an ordinary pair of leather shoes to ribbons.

The Luna 9 pictures completely squash the theory that the lunar surface is deeply covered with soft dust churned up by impacting meteorites, the geologist contended.

Job Corps

ble majority of the 17,800 enrollees went home.

95 Per Cent Return
"We were concerned that there might be a large dropout rate," Johnson said. "Just making connections with a jet for a trip is a problem for teenagers with their background. We were pleased that more than 95 per cent returned."

The greatest unsolved problem, Johnson said, is the first 30 days, when about half of the dropouts occur. This is the time of adjustment to a new life and, he said, "We've made a lot of mistakes, too sudden changes in environment, not enough counseling."

Johnson, 44, former president of Los Angeles State College, took charge of the Job Corps center on Jan. 1, after several months on-the-job training under the former director, Odis Singletary, who quit to return as president of the Greensboro branch, University of North Carolina.

Squire, 40, an industrialist, joined in mid-January, succeeding Chris Weeks, who took another job in the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Dirksen Heard
Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Senate minority leader, recently called the Job Corps center at Camp Breckinridge, Ky., a major example of "boondoggling" in the anti-poverty program.

Other members of Congress also have fired warning shots, generally involving centers in their district.

Since Dirksen's criticism, the Job Corps has announced that a new organization, an industrial firm to be selected later, will replace Southern Illinois University in managing Camp Breckinridge.

There are other signs that the Job Corps has eliminated any "crash" aspects from its program. Last fall, a goal of 40,000 by next June was announced. President Johnson's new budget trimmed this to 30,000.

Squire said one problem is, surprisingly, that in the booming economy of today there are too many jobs.

"Many of these boys want a job so badly that they leave the program before they are ready," he said.

Victim Of Burns Dies, Set Rites At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE — Funeral services for Mrs. Ruth A. Blake, 72, who was severely burned when her clothing caught fire at her home at about 8 a.m. Friday, will be held in Roodhouse Tuesday.

Authorities said that Mrs. Blake, a resident of Manchester was apparently starting a fire in her cook stove or attempting to burn trash in the stove when her clothing ignited.

Mrs. Blake was taken to Passavant hospital for treatment of extensive burns. She died at 8:40 p.m. Friday.

Coroner John B. Martin said he would conduct an investigation concerning the cause of the death.

Mrs. Blake was born in Scott County April 30, 1893; a daughter of John and Martha Watkins Ruby. Her husband, Delbert, passed away Sept. 11, 1964.

Surviving are three sons by a former marriage: Robert Bryan of Springfield, Ruby Bryan of Peoria and Joseph Bryan of Bakersfield, Calif.; four stepsons: Edgar Blake of Winchester, Ernest Blake of Roodhouse, Gilbert and Wilbur Blake, both of LaPorte, Ind. and two brothers, Homer Ruby of Springfield and Russell Ruby of Jacksonville.

The body was taken to the Mackey Funeral Home at Roodhouse where the family will meet friends Monday afternoon and evening.

Funeral services will be held at the funeral home at 2 p.m. Tuesday with Reverend Kenneth Day officiating. Burial will be in Sandy Creek cemetery.

SAY BISHOP'S SON COMMITTED SUICIDE

NEW YORK (AP) — The death of the 22-year-old son of Protestant Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike of California was listed by police Saturday as a suicide. They said he shot himself and left a long, rambling note that ended with "Goodbye."

The body of James A. Pike Jr. was found Friday in his $5-a-day Hudson Hotel room by a bell-boy. A high-powered hunting rifle was by his side.

Police said he apparently sat on the bed propped the rifle against the end and fired a single shot into his head.

A student at Cambridge University, England, Pike returned to the United States on Wednesday and registered in the hotel on Broadway. He was to continue on to California Saturday.

Senators Nip JHS 64-60; Clan Triumphs, 78-51

Huge Front Line Wins For Solons

By BUFORD GREEN

A massive Springfield front line, led by Dave Robisch's 31 points, proved to be the difference in the end Saturday night, as the Senators nipped an impressive Jacksonville effort with a 64-60 edge over the Crimson at the JHS Bowl.

Springfield handed Jacksonville only its second defeat in two years in the Bowl by using its superior size, getting a short lead in second half and holding off a Crimson surge.

Robisch, a 6-7 junior with beautiful touch anywhere within 15 feet, killed the Crimson all evening, throwing in 15 points in the first half and 16 in the second quarter. For the second night in a row, a reserve, Springfield's Mark Stoddard, played a big role in a Jacksonville loss. Stoddard came on in fourth quarter with ten of his 12 points, all at crucial points when the Crimson were knocking at the door.

While Springfield was hitting from close range, working the ball into a front line of 6-7 Robisch, 6-5 Bill Scheffler and 6-4 Steve Jurkins, the Crimson were forced to get most of their points outside the 15-foot range. And, they did a good job of it with Duane Hess, Rich Coble and Gary Ginder ripping the nets at a hot clip.

At a size deficit averaging out to over two inches per man, the Crimson did a valiant job on the boards, pulling down 34 retrieves to 32 for the visitors, and getting ten offensive rebounds to nine by the Solons.

Springfield threw up a virtual wall around Ron Coleman, putting three largest men near the JHS standouts all evening. Coleman still maneuvered loose for 16 points.

Tight All The Way
No more than seven points ever separated the two clubs, with Springfield running up that difference midway in the final minutes. Up to that point each team had held five point margins.

The first half was especially tight, with the lead changing hands ten times and the two clubs tied on eight occasions. Four more ties and two occasions of the lead changing hands turned up in the second half before Springfield took charge late in the third period and was never headed.

Neither team was able to bust loose in the opening eight minutes. Hess kept Jacksonville in the running with three of three long distance bombs, while Coble added two 20-footers. After ties at 2-2, 5-5 and 7-7, Coble came in with three seconds remaining as JHS grabbed the biggest lead of the game to that point, 11-8.

Robisch Breaks Loose
Robisch, after being held to one bucket in the first period, began changing the tide early in the second frame. The junior transfer from Cincinnati scored 13 points in the second round. While Robisch was handling the Solon charge, Coleman, scoreless in the first frame, and Coble carried the Crimson. The lead changed hands six straight times, followed by five straight through the tight second period. Gary Ginder's two free tosses with 19 seconds left brought a 28-28 halftime deadlock.

Jacksonville shot an even 50% in the half, a blazing 71% in the first quarter on five of seven attempts. Springfield fired 36% from the field in the half. Ties at 30-30 and 32-32 opened the third round. Coble's three point effort put JHS into a 35-32 edge with 4:36 to play in the frame.

Go Ahead By Seven
Springfield's Jerry Stutler canned three straight from the top of the key and Robisch worked loose for four buckets in close in the period, with seven of those points coming in a string for a 43-38 SHS margin with 1:20 left. Ginder hit from the baseline for a 45-40 count entering the final eight minutes. Ginder and Coble struck from the outside to open the final chapter, bringing the Crimson within one. Reserve Stoddard took over for the Senators at that point, combining with Robisch for eight points for a 55-48 count, the biggest difference in the game, with 3:20 left in the game.

Still not out of the running, JHS roared back on buckets by Coleman and Coble and got within 57-54 with 1:40 to play. The Crimson, forced to chase the visitors, got no closer than that in the remaining time, as Robisch tipped in a key bucket with one minute left and Stoddard canned two charity throws with :26 showing to put the game out of reach.

The victory lifts Springfield to a 12-9 mark on the year, breaking a three-game losing streak, while Jacksonville slides to 11-8, losing its second straight.

Tornadoes Clip Payson, 80-57, Behind Hannant

PAYSON — Griggsville's Phil Hannant turned in his second straight high-scoring effort, here Saturday evening, as he tossed 30 points in leading the Tornadoes to an easy 80-57 count over Payson.

The Tornadoes led by only 17-16 at the first break, but clipped off 20 or more in the last three quarters to win going away.

Hannant, who scored 45 points Friday night, led the balanced Griggsville scoring attack that had two more players in double figures.

Griggsville is now 9-10 for the year, while Payson dropped to 6-13.

Gophers Break

Purdue Tactics

For 66-61 Margin

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—

Minnesota broke the grip of Purdue's deliberate game midway through the second half and streaked to a 66-61 Big Ten basketball victory Saturday night.

The Gophers, remaining in contention in the Big Ten race with a 5-2 record, held only a 43-40 lead with 11 minutes to go in a game which for three quarters of the way resembled cage play of two decades ago.

But Minnesota finally was able to run against the Boilermaker slowdown and opened a 13-point lead at 66-53 with 1:15 remaining.

Despite Purdue's slow moving attack, Dave Schellhase, the nation's top major college scorer with a 31.8 average going into the game, managed 27 points.

At one point Schellhase had 27 of his team's 47 with three minutes to go.

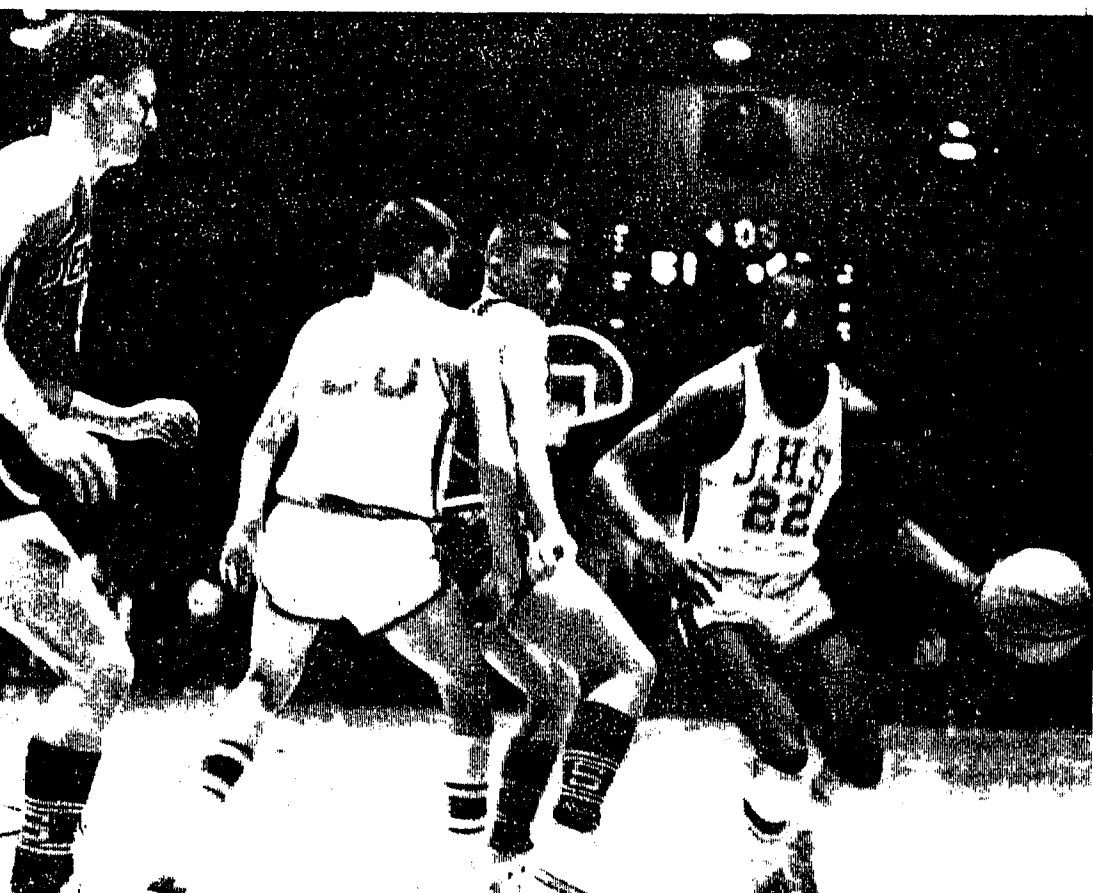

Dennis Dvoracek led Minnesota with 16 points, while Archie Clark added 15, Lou Hudson 12 and Wes Martins 11.

Purdue, suffering its fifth defeat in six Big Ten games, once trailed 19-9 in the first half but rallied to shave the margin to 31-27 at the half.

The Boilermakers got within two several times early in the second half but never could draw even.

BATTLING: Gary Ginder (44) and Ron Coleman battle for a rebound in front of Springfield's Bill Scheffler, under the visitors' bucket, during Springfield's 64-60 edge over the Crimson Saturday night. JHS's Rich Coble is at bottom of picture.

OPENING UP: Abe Brown drives by a screen set by teammate Robin Monker. On defense for Springfield are, l-r, Steve Jurkins and Jerry Stutler.

Organizing Pros Not A New Thing

NEW YORK (AP) — Before trying to corral America's professional athletes into a league, after a series of lawsuits, the Players League and National League got together.

Twenty years later, in 1910, Fultz, a former first baseman for the Phillies, Athletics and Yankees, formed the Baseball Players' Fraternity, with the aim to force contractual concessions from the owners.

The move died a 'bornin' but the threat forced owners to improve the wages.

The last to seriously try it and fail — was Murphy, a Harvard-educated labor organizer out of Boston. He went to the courts and to the National Labor Relations Board and once in 1946 — got the Pittsburgh Pirates to think about a sitdown strike.

The ball players got cold feet at the last minute. Hoffa created a stir in sports circles Friday when he announced he was starting a drive to organize all professional athletes — football, baseball, basketball, hockey.

He named an aide, Harold J. Gibbons, to spearhead the drive and announced that an office would be set up to start signing the sports stars. The move drew only skepticism from sports officials and competitors.

Back in 1890, John Montgomery Ward, a star player with the New York Giants and later an attorney, led a campaign to form a Players' League, or Brotherhood of Baseball Players.

The move stemmed from the National League's passage of a $2,000 salary limit.

Ward got most of the good players of the day into his brotherhood — King Kelly, Tip O'Neill, Jim O'Rourke, Charley Comiskey, Tim Keefe and Roger Connor, to name a few.

Strong Defense Vaults Virginia To 80-62 Rout

VIRGINIA — Virginia's tight man-to-man press took its toll here Saturday night, as the local Birds rolled to an easy 80-62 non-conference triumph over the Ducks from Havana.

After leading by 20-14 and 34-23 spreads at the first two stops, Virginia's Bill Middleton and Steve Larsen combined for 19 points in the third frame to allow the Birds to coast home with their 15th win of the year, against five setbacks.

Middleton scored 11 in the period, while Larsen netted eight.

Reg Brunk, who tallied nine points in the first frame, led the locals four-man double figure attack with 17.

Game high honors went to Jon Brown, who collected 22 for the now 5-13 Ducks.

Russell Leads 93-76 Loop Edge

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Cazzie Russell hit six shots in the first four minutes and powered Michigan's defending Big Ten basketball champions to a 93-76 victory over Indiana Saturday.

Russell, the Big Ten scoring leader, matched his conference average by scoring 32 points on 12 of 26 shots from the field and 8 of 10 free throws.

Russell's racing start gave the Wolverines a 16-5 lead with 16:03 left in the first half. Indiana never dug out of the hole, although the Hoosiers came within five points in the second half.

Michigan's rebounding edge, 59-39, limited the Hoosiers to one shot on many of their offensive drives. However, the Wolverines gave up the ball more times, committing 18 errors to Indiana's 13.

Jim Myers of Michigan led the rebounders with 12, and Russell took 11.

Michigan built up a 43-30 halftime lead and stretched it to 48-32. Indiana came close at 58-53 on a jump shot by Frank Everett with 12:39 to play and was only seven points back at 67-60 with 9:39 left, but five straight Michigan field goals finished the threat.

Triopia Grade Teams Capture PMSC Crowns

ARENZVILLE — Triopia claimed both the lightweight and heavyweight titles, here Saturday night, whipping Bluffs in both classes in the finals of the PMSC Grade school tournament.

The winning lightweight had an easy time of it and romped in with a 42-22 margin, while the Triopia heavies were pushed right to the wire before winning 38-35.

The lightweight jumped to a 15-1 first-quarter difference and romped in from there, leading 32-4 at intermission. Roger Fricke and Mike Meyer combined for 24 points for the winners, while Jim Wyatt led the losers with eight.

The Titan heavies led 11-4 and 22-11 at the first stops, but had to hold off Bluffs in the closing minutes. John Wessler's 11 led Triopia scoring, while Gary Williams' nine was best for Bluffs.

BREAKTHROUGH
IN EXERCISING?

Almost comparable to the 'space race' in the past few years, are American kinesiologists and physical educators in their struggle to keep this country's physical fitness equal to or above that of the rest of the world.

Attempts in this direction have been fast and varied. Those in the know can cite long lists of figures and statistics stressing the need for physical fitness and how America is lagging behind in this area.

The latest development is another of those heralded 'breakthroughs' which some claim is the ultimate answer. We have been hearing of this off and on for the past year, and as far as this corner can gather, it sounds like a pretty good deal.

But first, an understanding of why physical fitness is important. Gradually, over the past 100 years, mechanization and labor saving devices have virtually eliminated the physical effort involved in our daily lives. In 1850, machines produced only an estimated 6% of the nation's work. Today the figure is estimated to be 96%, and all indications are that we have just begun the age of automation.

This mechanical process has introduced an extreme danger to the health and vitality of the people due to lack of exercise. The impact of this danger is shown in many ways. During World War II, 60% of the servicemen could not pass minimum fitness standards at the beginning of their training and it has recently been reported that the number has now reached 70%. In an extensive study comparing European and American children in a test of minimum muscular fitness, 56.7% American versus 8.3% European children failed the test.

It is no wonder that President Eisenhower and President Kennedy considered the fitness problem as one of the greatest magnitude and reflected their concern by establishing the President's Council on Youth Fitness.

Unfortunately, the problem becomes increasingly critical as our youth grow older. Coronary disease is twice as frequent in the sedentary as in the active; other diseases more frequent in the sedentary are diabetes and ulcers; not to mention lower back pain, stress, fatigue, overweight problems, etc.

As we understand it, the latest development in the direction of making exercise and conditioning more pleasant stems from a program first investigated by the U.S. government, for use in submarines and by the astronauts, where space is limited.

The system itself is tabbed 'isogenics' and is handled by a simple little machine called an 'Exer-Genie.' The machine itself consists of a long nylon cord rope running through a simple metal tube about ten inches long and approximately two inches around.

The principle of the entire system works on the idea of a twisted rope. The rope is twisted inside the metal tube, with markings designating the amount of twist and the equal poundage as the tube is adjusted or turned.

When the commercial company first came out with the 'Exer-Genie' it claimed it could do anything $70,000 worth of gym equipment could do. We gather, some company took this claim to court on a false claims charge, but dropped it after witnessing the possibilities of the machine, which sells for about $25.

Illinois College athletic director Joe Brooks, whom we consider a very learned physical educator, explained to this writer that the machine combines the best aspects of isotonic (exercise with movement, usually using weights of some sort) with those of isometrics (exercise without movement).

The machine is used by pulling one or both ends of the rope as desired, and with as much resistance as desired, and as demonstrated by Brooks, has no end to its adaptability. It may be placed in any number of positions so as to simulate all types of exercise and conditioning maneuvers.

Brooks, who uses the machine at Illinois College and plans to purchase more in the future for wider use there, adds that he has found it to be very sturdy and seemingly indestructible.

The 'Exer-Genie' manual explains that the use of the machine combines the latest theories in resistive exercise. By starting each exercise isometrically, without movement, one gets the greatest strength benefits of this school of exercise, combined with isotonic, with movement, giving the benefits of endurance and flexibility (which may make very little practical sense to the average person).

What it all boils down to is this: If this system of exercising and the machine used is all it is cracked up to be (and most indications say it is), here is a small, compact, economical way of keeping the body in shape, with just a few minutes a day.

The greatest compliment we have heard for isogenics is that which came from an athlete who spent some time at the U.S. Air Force Academy last year. He said he spent three weeks on it and added 20 pounds, an inch to neck, biceps and legs, and cut down his running considerably.

HERE 'N' THERE: America's best pole vaulter at the moment, John Pennel, is getting a bit tired of people staring at him and asking questions about the two 16-foot glass fiber poles, encased in cardboard tubes, he carries when traveling. Some of the answers he has offered to the curious: "I'm superstitious so I carry my own lightning rod to protect the plane. . . It's a fishing pole and I'm going after the big ones. . . It's a microfilm, that usually puzzles them. . . I'm a tightrope walker and these are my balancing bars."

Routt's Rockets are now under the coaching of Larry Pacotti, an IC graduate at mid-year, from Kincaid. The IHSAA forbids a student-teacher being head coach, so Pacotti was assistant to interim coach Marvin West for the first semester. Pacotti has been handling the team officially for about a week, since the start of the second semester.

Heard about a fellow we know pulling a good one last week. Paying a neighborhood youth $1 to shovel the snow from his walks just prior to leaving for an hour session of handball, for exercise.

Not much defense in an intramural basketball game last week at Illinois College. Final score: Phi Alpha 'A', 187, "Spastics" 7.

Bluffs graduate Lee Frederick has appeared in 18 of Bradley's 20 games to date and has scored 25 points for a 1.3 average, firing at a 53% rate from the field.

The Franklin at New Berlin game, postponed last week, has been rescheduled for Feb. 15. The Waverly at Morrisonville tilt will be held Feb. 14.

Johansen Saves Win Over Bucks

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Bob Johansen's two free throws with 14 seconds left gave Illinois a 78-77 Big Ten basketball victory over Ohio State Saturday.

The triumph left the Illini with a 5-1 conference record, still in hot contention for the league title.

Johansen's two charity tosses made it 78-75. Ron Sepic of Ohio State plunked in two free throws with six seconds left, but the Buckeyes were unable to get in another shot.

Ohio State led most of the game. Shortly after the second half began, the Buckeyes got their biggest lead, 42-31.

Illinois caught up with 10 minutes to go, matching the score at 53-all. The Buckeyes held the lead momentarily twice after that, but the Illini then moved ahead several times as a see-saw struggle began.

With six minutes left, Don Freeman's basket put Illinois ahead to stay 65-63.

The Illini were paced by sophomore Rich Jones, who scored 27 points, while Freeman contributed 21.

Ohio State's leader was Bob Dove with 22 points, 20 of them in the first half. Dove was in foul trouble and missed much of the second half, finally fouling out with 10 minutes left.

Buckeye Bill Hosket, who suffered a broken nose earlier this week, scored only nine points, well below his 21-point average.

Ohio State's Big Ten record now is 2-4.

The Buckeyes shot .531 in the first half, while Illinois hit only .382. However, Illinois wound up shooting .448 while Ohio State slumped to .420.

Individual champions for the Crimsons were Rick Acree at 103. Roger Spaulding at 120, Wes Hillgoss at 138, Larry Nortrup at 145 and Bob Dennis at 154.

Adding to the total garnered by the five firsts were seconds turned in by Art McPike at 113 and Chip Sutphen at 133, and thirds by Terry Hammers at 165, Roger Zulauf at 180 and Dan Kinsell in the heavyweight class.

Eisenhower gathered four firsts, Lanphier two and MacArthur 1. This was the first conference title by JHS, finishing second behind MacArthur in the first two years of the league.

Crimsons Capture Loop Mat Crown

Jacksonville won five individual championships and walked off with the Capitol Conference wrestling crown Saturday, finishing well ahead of their three opponents in a meet held at the JHS Bowl.

The winning Crimsons amassed 90 points, followed by Springfield Lanphier and Decatur Eisenhower with 74 each and Decatur MacArthur, which won the last two meets, with 73.

Unveil City Plan Wednesday Evening At MacMurray Hall

Students from the architectural class of the University of Illinois will present to the business people in Jacksonville Wednesday evening their plan for total development of the city and its economic surroundings.

The plan, which is to be a controlled progressive design for improving the city's physical, economic, cultural and recreational living advantages, will be presented by use of slides and will be held in the new chemistry building at MacMurray college at 7:30 p.m.

Informed sources estimate if such a collection of brains were employed by the city on a professional basis to produce a workable plan for Jacksonville's future the cost would run in excess of $100,000.

This plan is being sponsored by the Lions Club at a cost of $5,000.

The graduate class will present to the city scale models of Jacksonville and its surrounding area, plus models of special focal points that need attention, and these will be on display in the lobby of the Chemistry Building.

Arrangements will be made to keep the models on display for the general public's viewing immediately following the presentation.

Entire Area Contrary to the original impression made that the plan was to focus on just the downtown area, the proposed plan will cover all of Jacksonville, including a 1-1/2 mile peripheral area, plus a corridor from Springfield to the Illinois River.

Feeding Hunger Of The Mind

One of the few American overseas endeavors that hasn't been attacked by mobs or told in less forceful ways to "go home" is something called Franklin Book Programs, Inc.

Because of it, "Little Women," for example, is a best seller in Pakistan, where it is read in Urdu, and Egyptian university students are using a text in microbiology in their own language of Arabic.

This little publicized, private, non-profit organization was founded in 1952 by a group of publishers and librarians with the modest aim of promoting the translation of American books abroad.

That first year, half a dozen titles were published. In 1965, the total had risen to more than 2,700 titles and 50 million copies.

Besides major languages like Arabic and Spanish, projected programs include books in such exotic tongues as Yoruba, Hausa and Igbo.

Franklin publishes no books itself, however, preaches no propaganda, sells no ideology. Local people direct its overseas offices, now in 11 nations in Asia, Africa and South America, and select the books to be translated.

Franklin also trains local people in all phases of the book industry, is sponsoring work on reference books, dictionaries and encyclopedias and, most recently, has become involved in school library projects.

This last activity is particularly appropriate, for the organization was named for Benjamin Franklin, who was not only America's first printer and publisher but the founder of its first public library.

Of the $3.5 million the organization spent in 1965, more than half was provided by the foreign governments concerned. The balance came from American foundations and other private sources and from the U.S. government, primarily in the form of local currencies.

As Franklin's operations have expanded, so have its aims. Today the immediate one is still to help feed the great hunger for learning that exists in the developing nations.

Its long-range objective is to build a thriving book industry and book-reading public as an aid to economic, educational and social development in every country that it enters — and eventually leaves.

For these are Yankees who do want to go home but only when they are no longer needed.

James Perkins' Name Rings Bell in Capital

By WASHINGTON STAFF
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The recent report that Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., was eying James Perkins, Cornell University president, as a possible opponent for New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller this fall had a familiar ring in Washington. In late November 1960, the name of Perkins—at that time a Carnegie Corp. vice president—bubbled up at every discussion of potential federal appointments by the late President John F. Kennedy. No matter what the job, Perkins' name was near the top of everyone's list. Historian Arthur Schlesinger recalls that Kennedy—appalled at learning that he had to fill some 1,200 administration jobs—cried: "People! People! I don't know any people! How am I going to fill these 1,200 jobs? All I hear is the name Jim Perkins. Who in hell is Perkins?"

One veteran Washington observer and former government official is getting tired of hearing that 1966 will be a big problem year for President Johnson. Says he: "That's what we pay him for, to handle the big ones. If you've got a Peeping Tom, you go to your alderman. If you've got a Viet Nam on your hands, you go to the president."

John Doar, chief of the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, appeared recently on a nationally televised news show. When friends mentioned the following morning that they had seen the show, Doar said almost apologetically: "I must have looked nervous. But it wasn't because of the cameras." Pausing a second, he explained: "My 14-year-old daughter had her first date the night before."

Dr. William Prendergast, research director for the House Republican Conference — policy-making group for GOP congressmen — was a little astonished at the introduction he got from a gathering of party women in Washington. His chief hostess rattled off a long list of credentials, including university degrees earned and various teaching and research activities engaged in. When he took the floor, Prendergast said: "I shuddered a bit when I heard that recital of my past record. It sounds very much as if I couldn't hold a job."

As a publicity stunt, officials dedicating a new Georgia bank attached a $10,000 bill to the customary ceremonial ribbon. After calling for a "strong, sound dollar" in his keynote speech, Georgia Rep. Phil Landrum turned to cut the ribbon. Inadvertently, he clipped the $10,000 bill neatly in half.

FINDING THE WAY

Jesus Posed Question Still Pertinent Today

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Among the many significant questions which Jesus posed in his day, there is one which prods the complacent in any age. He asked simply, "What do you do more than others?"

In that time the question revolved about loving one's neighbor. Jesus asked simply what merit there was in loving only persons who love you. What glory is there in just being polite? What real strength in the business of loving one's enemy is illustrated by the being nice to the family? The questions have the uncomfortable manner of nudging us beyond the mere standards of respectability.

A precise example of all of this is involved in the efforts to bring and to maintain peace, in giving oneself to the quality of living and thinking that encourages peace.

The world has witnessed an extraordinary commitment to the matter of peacemaking by professors, students and citizens around the country. Many of these people risk status, jeopardize security and exhibit a commitment that shames the complacent. One doesn't have to agree with a man in order to admire the quality of his devotion to his cause. The commitment is impressive. The question which is posed to the rest of us who assert that we love peace, "What do you do more than these?"

Or take another look. The problems of changing the pattern of the slums in our cities, renewing housing or any of the other demanding challenges that raise their voices ought to be apparent to all. There has been enough rioting and unchoked anger to make the issue obvious.

In the midst of this struggle have come some who propose to deal with the urgency by employing rudeness. They justify the use of the sneer in order to call attention to the plight of those who have been unable to raise a significant voice. To those of us who recoil from the method, there comes the concurrent question, "What do you do more than these?"

The old complacency about supporting the Golden Rule won't do. You don't pussyfoot through a revolution. Now will the real lover of justice stand up? Will the person who really sees his Maker in the life of his brother please stand up? Will the man who really loves peace and believes in spending himself for righteousness, justice and peace please stand up?

For if you love only those who love you what credit is that to you? Even tax collectors do that. And if you exchange greetings only with those in your own circle are you doing anything exceptional? Even the

Farmers' Influence Shrinks As Cities Hog Spotlight

By BRUCE BIONSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The farmer, for so long a figure in American life larger than his numbers, is beginning to hear the sounds of an urban avalanche which could engulf him. The last few presidential State of the Union messages have barely mentioned him. In President Johnson's latest, he gets three short sentences. The budget message allots him five none-too-meaty paragraphs.

Meantime, the President and everybody else in national public life are talking about urban growth and urban problems. With 70 per cent of the American people crammed into cities and suburbs and more coming all the time, the shift in emphasis is understandable enough. But there is some danger that the pendulum of attention could swing too far.

One out of about seven Americans today is a farmer. As a voter as well as an economic factor, his proportionate share in U.S. life has been declining for a long time. Recent events have speeded his decline beyond the drop in mere numbers. Supreme Court reapportionment decisions signaled the beginning of the end of decades of rural over-representation in state legislatures and Congress. Farmer influence already has shrunk materially. Redistricting now in progress will reduce it further.

As a force in U.S. society, the farmer seems destined to diminish still more. Twenty million people left the farms in the period from 1940 to 1965. Only 13 million remain, and the exodus goes on.

Of the three million farms in the nation, at least a third appear doomed as too small and unprofitable. Another third are shaky.

Just the final third—about a million farms—are prosperous and expanding. Representing huge investments in land ($50,000 average), buildings and equipment, they account for nearly 85 per cent of all farm marketings.

They get most of the federal help, either in the form of commodity support prices or as direct payments for pulling out of production land which otherwise would be sown to feed grains and other crops.

The successful farmers do so well they obscure the losers. The winners' gains in 1965 rose substantially over 1964 and should climb again in 1966. Their income prospects are sufficiently good, in fact, that it is quite safe politically for the President to brush off the farm situation in a brief word and tell the farmer the federal government will spend a good deal less on agriculture in the year ahead.

Nevertheless, even though income is good overall, the Department of Agriculture remains huge and the farm lobby highly vocal, the farmer could easily slip totally out of the spotlight if trends continue.

It is the fashion in some circles to minimize his differences with the urban citizenry by noting he has television, high speed automobile access to the city, sons and daughters in the city, common dependence with the city dweller on many federal assistance programs.

The points are obviously valid. The farmer today is hardly the faded "man of independence" so long depicted in U.S. life. But his work, his problems, his vistas of green space and highway distances combine still to make him a figure considerably distinct from your city neighbor in the next apartment.

As his numbers and hence his power grows smaller and smaller, it may require in time a wrenching effort of the urbanized national will to keep the farmer's legitimate interests and differences from being buried.

It is an ironic prospect for a figure which, through much of 20th century history, has bulked much larger than he really was.

Why is the ocean salty? The salts found in the ocean are one result of more than two billion years of disintegration of the igneous rocks of the earth's crust. ### Mature Parent Facing Up to Campus Sex

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The importance of college student-faculty dialogue about sex — the exact term used is "candid dialogue" — has been given top priority by the 260 psychiatrists who compose the membership of the prestigious Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry. In its just-issued booklet, "Sex and the College Student," the GAP offers guidelines to college administrators in setting policies for dealing with sexual issues among students. It suggests that each college administration should make "explicit" its attitude toward sex activity on its own campus.

Endorsing the opinion of Dr. Mary S. Calderone of the Sex Information and Education Council of the U.S., the booklet denies colleges the right to dispense contraceptive devices to students, limiting their obligation to the provision of contraceptive information while making it clear that any use of the information is the student's responsibility.

In the hope that parents of college students will find reassurance in this booklet, I offer them the following quotations from it:

"Existing charts handed down by the older generation seem out-of-date to many young people, based as they are on conflicting values, lack of candor and the failure to respond to new realities . . . Traditional external controls of the sexual behavior have been modified by recent scientific advances and cultural changes . . . "Some adolescents become preoccupied with the physical aspects of sexuality—a preoccupation accentuated by a literature and culture that abound in the treatment of sex as a physical skill. Young people cannot miss the message in fiction, movies and plays. Many of our marriage manuals also focus on the physical aspects of sex . . . The young adult is unsure of what his society expects of him sexually. However, most late adolescents are eager to arrive at moral standards for their sexual behavior, do not wish to confuse sex with love or be seduced into sexual activity by the unconscious stratagem of calling it love. . . . How grateful I am for the combined realism and compassion of this booklet! If parents wish to ignore the changes which encourage young people to claim self-determination in sexual matters as the Constitution grants it to them in political matters, that is a parent's privilege. But as modern institutions colleges can't afford this Victorian dreaminess. "Sex and the College Student" can be bought from the Publications Office, Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry, 104 East 25 St., New York, N.Y. 10010. The price is $1.50.

American Menu Instant Apple Flakes

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My daughter's home economics teacher told her about a new instant applesauce on the market. Where can I find any?

A—Just keep a lookout at your grocery store for apple flakes that mix instantly in water to make sauce, advises the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture. These new uses for apples are made possible by a process developed by the department's scientists. The flakes have already been tried commercially in dessert and cake mixes. They may later be used in apple butter, confections and baked goods. They help keep cakes moist as well as give a delicious apple flavor.

Q—Are shrimp sold according to size?

A—Yes. These are the different counts, that is, the number of shrimp per pound:

15 and under per pound
16 to 20 per pound
21 to 25 per pound
26 to 30 per pound
31 to 42 per pound

Anniversary Of A Bright Star

A minor space-age anniversary slipped past the other day. Explorer I, America's first satellite, chalked up its eighth year in space.

The little cylinder — 80 inches long and six inches in diameter — was kicked into orbit on January 31, 1958, by a modified Redstone rocket, a type that has long since been retired to the missile museums.

Explorer's most notable achievement was its discovery of the Van Allen radiation belt, the first important new knowledge about space to be obtained by a satellite.

Explorer now completes one orbit of the earth 11 minutes faster than it did in the beginning, indicating that it is slowly but inexorably being drawn back into the atmosphere where it will eventually burn up. Mathematicians calculate that this will happen sometime in 1968, or not long before men hurl themselves toward the moon.

If this is all rather ho-hum information, that in itself is a reminder of how far we have progressed since those early, uncertain space launchings and how quickly human beings come to take for granted what was once something stupendous.

Dear Ann:

Ex-soda Jerk's Advice Passed On

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: It is apparent from your advice to the young fellow who worked in the ice cream shop that YOU have never worked the employee's side of the counter.

This poor kid was exasperated because people came in and asked what flavors they had (they had 28) and when he finished rattling them all off they said, "Oh well, I'll take vanilla."

He was sure they did it to annoy him and he wanted a snappy answer. You told him customers don't come in for snappy answers—they come in for ice cream.

As a person who has waited on the public for 28 years I can tell you that there are a lot of mean, miserable creeps in this world who take out their hostility on clerks, waitresses, and folks who can't tell them where to head in.

My first job was jerking sodas. I was 16. My boss told me that whenever I encountered a rude, arrogant, demanding person I should be courteous because that person was probably mad at somebody he couldn't talk back to and I was the substitute. His advice has helped me stay ulcer-free and reasonably sane. Please pass it on to others who have to take a lot of lip on the job. —SMILING SAM

Dear Sam: You were lucky to have such a wise boss. And cheers to you for following his advice. But — that little red choo-choo runs both ways. While it is true that customers are often nasty, clerks can be pretty miserable, too. And the reason for the unpleasantness frequently has nothing to do with the encounter.

Dear Ann Landers: I am so disgusted with my parents I do not know what to do. Let me start by telling you that I am a 15-year-old girl. My parents got a divorce two years ago. I begged them not to, but they did anyway. I live with my mother.

Dad is over here at least three nights a week. When he is around mom talks in a fakey voice like she is on the stage. I have caught them necking on the sofa a few times and it is just nauseating.

Yesterday mom told me that the three of us are going to take a weekend trip. Dad has to go to Philadelphia on business. I think it is disgraceful. After all, they are NOT man and wife anymore. Should I tell them I am not going on a trip with them unless they get married? —SMARTER THAN I LOOK

Dear Smarter Than: If you are really smart you will play dumb. It is not your place to tell them anything. In time your parents will probably remarry — which is the way they should have stayed to begin with.

Dear Ann Landers: We recently moved into an apartment after having lived in the suburbs for 17 years. The apartment has no garage facilities so we park our car on the street — as close to our apartment as we can get. Sometimes we must park three blocks away.

There are two homes across the street from our apartment. Last night my husband and I pulled into a parking place in front of one of the homes. A woman came out and said, "This place belongs to us. We own our home. Please park your car elsewhere."

Is this woman within her rights or not? —MR. AND MRS.

Dear Mr. and Mrs.: I know of no city where the home owner owns the street in front of his property. But just to make certain there are no freaky regulations in your area, call the police chief and get the straight goods.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing your request 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Feels Prospects Good For Increased Bean, Corn Sales In Orient

Prospects are good for continued large exports of U. S. soybeans and corn to Japan and other countries in the Far East, according to W. B. Peterson, Illinois Agricultural association secretary of marketing.

Peterson said recently at the U. of I. Agricultural Foreign Trade Conference that Japan had bought about $800 million worth of U. S. agricultural products in 1964. About $504 million of this amount was Illinois' share. In grains, Japan bought 100 million bushels of corn, 45 million bushels of grain sorghum, 59 million bushels of wheat and 64 million bushels of soybeans.

The improving diet of the Japanese people should help to strengthen the long-term future markets, Peterson said. During the past 15 years, the Japanese consumption has remained about the same. And urban household are using less cereals.

In discussing other U.S. markets that he observed on a recent trade mission to the Far East, Peterson said that Formosa also is a star performer in the economic world. In 1964 Formosa imported nearly $140 million worth of goods from the U.S. More than $47 million of this amount was in wheat and flour, $18 million in soybeans and $350 thousand in milk and milk products.

The Nationalist government of China is in effective control of the island, Peterson noted. And food output is increasing faster than is the population. Thus it was possible for the U.S. to end economic aid to Formosa in June 1965.

The government would prefer to have help from U.S. commercial interests in the form of joint partnerships, Peterson said. And it has enacted certain statutes to encourage technical cooperation and investment.

FARMLAND VALUES
IN THE MID-WEST
ADVANCED IN '65!

Farmland values in the Mid-West advanced at an accelerated pace during 1965. The value of "good" farmland rose 8 per cent last year compared with a 5 per cent gain in 1964.

Largest gains were recorded in Illinois with a 10% gain, Iowa and Indiana reported a 9% gain while Wisconsin showed a 7% rise and Michigan land advanced 6%.

The general upward trend in land values was reinforced by the relative high prices received for livestock and the bumper crop of corn and soybeans.

Investment Credit On Trades
Many farmers and other businessmen are facing new problems when they trade in old machinery or equipment. What happens to the investment credit they received on the old property if it is traded sooner than anticipated? And what is their cost (for figuring investment credit) in the new or used property acquired in the trade?

Uncle Sam says that if you trade property before the end of its estimated useful life, in effect you have not lived up to your part of the bargain. Therefore, you will have to pay back any "unearned" investment credit or decrease the unused credit you have carried over from year to year. The investment credit must be "recaptured."

For 1965 tax returns, the usual rule will be that you must return any credit you were allowed on traded property. If you have not received any tax reduction because of the investment credit, you simply eliminate your credit carry-over from previous years. You do not have to pay back something from which you never benefited. If the credit did offset some income tax in the past, you must add it directly to your 1965 tax bill. This recaptured credit cannot be offset by investment credit on property acquired in 1965.

What is the cost (for figuring investment credit) of the property acquired in the trade? If you acquire new property, you take the credit on your adjusted basis in the old equipment, plus the "boot" or additional amount spent to get the new property.

If you get used property, and if there is no recapture on the old property, you take the credit only on the boot or cash given. This situation occurs if you had kept the old property at least four years and it had a four-or-five-year life, or if it was purchased before 1962 or was otherwise not eligible for the investment credit.

If you acquire used property and if any investment credit was recaptured, you are entitled to take the credit on the boot plus the adjusted basis of the old equipment you traded in. This is the usual situation for 1965 if you trade property on which you took the investment credit.

To illustrate these rules, suppose you bought a tractor for $6,000 in 1963 and estimated a six-year useful life. You therefore allowed a $280 credit (7% of 2 1/3 of the cost), which reduced your 1963 tax bill. If you trade the tractor in 1965, you must repay the entire investment credit.

Let's say that your adjusted basis in the old tractor was $3,200 and that you paid $3,000 boot to get a good used tractor. If you put it on a six-year life, you are allowed an investment credit of $289 (7% of 2 1/3 of $6,200) that will offset 1965 income tax. If there is no income tax due in 1965, you will have to pay back the $289 recaptured credit and carry the 1965 credit of $289 back to offset a prior year's tax. If you have owed no tax since 1962, you carry the credit forward to 1966 and thereafter.

Since carry-backs and carry-forwards do get complicated, you will save time and headaches by seeking professional help.

Springfield Market Swine Show Mar. 12

Plans are under way for the 4th annual market hog show to be held at the Springfield Stock Yards, Saturday, March 12.

The show is sponsored by the Springfield Stock Yards Co.; Interstate Producers Livestock Assn.; Lard & Dorr Commission Co.; Leahy - Farmers Commission Co.; Sangamon County Pork Producers Assn. and the University of Illinois Extension Service.

The show has been expanded this year to include a separate class for commercial feeders and one for breeders.

Cash awards will be given for pens of 5 and for singles selected from the pens of 5 in both the commercial and breeder class. The top carcass hogs in both classes will be slaughtered and percentage of lean cuts determined.

The main purpose of the show is of an educational nature so that the average feeder in the area can see what the packer looks for in market hogs and for which he will pay the highest price. At the same time he can discuss and compare his feeding operation with other feeders in the area.

Purebred and crossbred hogs weighing 190 to 240 lbs. may be shown.

Judging will be based on grade, quality and uniformity. Grooming will be secondary.

All hog raisers who have hogs in the weight bracket of 190 to 240 lbs. are urged to make an entry. Those who do not have hogs at this weight should attend this show as it will be of considerable interest and information to all hog raisers for future use.

Entry blanks may be obtained from the Springfield commission firms. There is no entry fee.

All entries must be made by Wednesday, March 9. Pens will be assigned in the order that entries are received.

Wildlife Packets' Furnish Cover, Food

"Habitat is the place where our wildlife live" says the soil conservationist for Morgan County.

An animal's home must provide water, food, and cover. Cover for wildlife includes places to play, nest and rear young, and escape from the weather and predators. Food includes corn, beans, small grains, weed seeds and other plants, animal and insect life. Life-giving water comes from dew and surface water areas.

Moreover, these basic needs must be of the right kind, sufficiently abundant and accessible to care for the animals' needs throughout the year.

Landowners and operators can improve these wildlife "homes" with proper management of the land, says Joe Graham of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. Agricultural crops, good land management and wildlife abundance cannot be separated. Gamebirds and animals and songbirds also prefer our most abundant crops—corn and beans.

Privately owned agriculture land will always be important in the production of an annual farm game crop. The landowner deserves the "pat-on-the-back" for it is his decision to control practices on his land that benefit wildlife.

What are some wildlife enhancement practices? Fencerows, both grass and shrubby, field borders and ditch banks are called "edges." Wildlife prefer edges" Graham said. These edges create "fingers" in croplands that are beneficial to wildlife by providing cover near food.

Cornstalks Help
When cornstalks are left on the land over winter, food and cover are provided during a critical period. Fall plowing covers many pounds of seed that would be used for food and also leaves the soil bare and vulnerable to wind and water erosion.

Maintaining soil fertility and use of crop rotation plays a big part in maintaining game numbers. High soil fertility means better crop production—more food, and crop rotation means diversified cover and food.

Spreading manure on cropland from the feed lot not only returns soil nutrients but provides emergency food for wildlife also.

All farming activities affect wildlife in some way. For the wildlife conscious landowner in some areas, this secondary crop is a source of additional income. The income received is not for the game species killed but from the privilege of hunting on his managed farm. There are more hunters every year, and fewer places to hunt.

"Therefore, if you are interested in managing your land to enhance the place where our wildlife live, and where you and I live, contact the Soil and Water Conservation district office for further information," Graham says.

Wildlife packets are available through the State Department of Conservation, Division of Forestry. The Northern packet should be ordered, consisting of 100 white pine, 100 red pine, 100 Siberian pea, 100 bush honey-suckle and 100 autumn olive.

Other species of trees for forestry purposes also available are European black alder, black walnut, soft maple, jack pine, red cedar, red, white and Scotch pine, ash, red gum, sycamore, tulip poplar and red oak.

Order blanks are available at the Extension office and the Soil Conservation District office.

FB DIRECTORS MEET THURSDAY
Farm Bureau board members from 21 central Illinois counties will assemble Thursday at Holiday Inn East, Springfield, for an all-day "Director's Institute."

The program will be presented by officers and staff members of the Illinois Agricultural association, headed by William J. Kuhfuss, president.

The IAA is asking that each county send about half of its board and Morgan county will be represented by eight or ten directors.

1ST LANDSCAPING CLASS TOMORROW
The first in a series of five classes in a Landscaping Workshop will be held at the Farm Bureau auditorium in Jacksonville on Monday night, Feb. 7 at 7:30 p.m. The series is designed to help families understand the principles of landscaping and during the series class participants will make a plan for their home. In this way planting can take place over a period of years, as time and money permit, resulting in a well designed landscape.

The classes are sponsored by the Morgan County Cooperative Extension Service and taught by Frances Webb, home adviser of Morgan-Scott, and George Myers, farm adviser in Scott.

Anyone interested in attending this series should contact the Extension Office Monday by calling 243-2900.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

There will be a lot of new pigs coming in the next few weeks. Let's hope they will be money makers—but first we've got to get them born and keep them alive so they can make hogs of themselves.

Here are some things to do to help around farrowing time.

Worm sows four weeks before farrowing and treat with malathion to control lice and mange.

Clean farrowing quarters thoroughly and disinfect them. Put in a clean sow 2-5 days before farrowing if you can—you need good breeding records to do this accurately. Take it easy with sows. Patience and fortitude are valuable in working with sows.

Farrowing is a critical time. Be present when sows pig. Be sure pigs are not exposed to cold, wet or drafty conditions and protect them from crushing. Remember each pig is worth at least a 5 dollar bill at birth. Dry them off and paint navels. Use iron injection or iron paste or pills to prevent anemia.

Some new feeds contain plenty of iron and minerals. And clean sows does too.

Be sure all pigs have room to suckle—even up litters if necessary. Do it soon because unsuckled teats will dry up.

Frequent cleaning will prevent scours. Keep quarters dry as moisture causes health problems. If you can farrow in a two week period and empty farrowing quarters for a through cleaning it will help prevent scours.

A temperature of 50-55 degrees keeps the sow comfortable, and 80-90 is just right for the pigs. Provide heat in whatever way you deem most practical. Do not hang heat lamps by their cords, use a wire or chain.

Feed the sows according to their milking ability and the age and strength of their pigs. If sows are turned out to be fed and watered group them by age and stage of lactation.

When turning sows out of a warm house into zero cold provide a windbreak of some sort to reduce the shock.

Remember milk is needed to make pigs grow. Milk is mostly water so supply plenty of it. Be sure it's clean and with the chill taken off of it.

Hope you have a good average.

Now you should:

- ... Disinfect the hog house.
- ... Order fertilizer.
- ... Plan a farm pond.
- ... Learn something new.
- ... Tell Mom how pretty she is.
- ... Buy Valentines.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

PROSPECTIVE BEEF SUPPLY NORMAL
The supply of beef in prospect for the next several months seems to be about "normal." Although the supply seldom seems to be entirely normal at any particular time, the average increase is 3 or 4 percent a year. Some such increase is likely this year, judging from the USDA Report of Cattle on Feed January 1.

This report is probably the most important one of the year for cattlemen. It shows that on January 1 farmers in 39 feeding states were feeding 9,963,000 cattle. This number was 5 percent more than last year. These feeders reported that they intended to market 4,514,000 fed cattle during the first quarter of this year. This number would be 4 percent more than they marketed in the first quarter a year ago.

West Increases Most. As in many previous years, the West shows a larger percentage increase in cattle feeding than the Corn Belt. The 11 western states had 2,672,000 cattle in feedlots on January 1-7 percent more than a year earlier. The 12 midwestern (North Central) states had 6,088,000 on feed—4 percent more than last year.

Big Increase in Heifers. Most of the increase in cattle in feedlots are heifers. On January 1, 2,913,000 were being fattened for market, 12 percent more than last year. Steers being fattened totaled 6,847,000, an increase of 2 percent.

Time on Feed Increases. Cattle on feed over six months were listed at 576,000, up 28 percent from January a year ago. The number on feed three to six months totaled 2,574,000, up 5 percent. Those on feed less than three months totaled 6,670,000, up 4 percent.

More Mid-Weight Cattle in Feedlots. The number of steers weighing over 1,100 pounds on feed January 1 totaled 361,000, 6 percent less than last year. Those weighing 900 to 1,100 pounds totaled 1,704,000, up 1 percent. In the 700 to 900-pound group there were 2,210,000, up 11 percent. Those weighing 500 to 700 pounds totaled 1,559,000, down 1 percent. Steer calves weighing under 500 pounds totaled 1,013,000, down 4 percent.

There were 253,000 heifers weighing over 900 pounds, up 1 percent from last year. Heifers weighing 700 to 900 pounds totaled 933,000, up 17 percent, while those weighing 500 to 700 pounds totaled 1,029,000, up 24 percent. Heifer calves weighing under 500 pounds were listed at 698,000, down 4 percent.

Illinois Gains 2 Percent. The number of cattle in Illinois feedlots was estimated at 672,000, up 2 percent from a year earlier. Cattle on feed in Iowa, the leading state, totaled 1,642,000, down 7 percent. Second-place Nebraska had 1,227,000 on feed, up a whopping 19 percent. Third-place California had 952,000 in its big feedlots, 4 percent more than last year. Illinois was in fourth place, followed closely by Colorado, Minnesota, and Texas.

Cattle Prices. During the 17 months ending with December, prices of Choice steers at Chicago averaged $25.80 a hundred pounds. The average was $25.45 for the first half of 1965 and $26.85 for the last half. Prices seem likely to average at above those levels this year.

NEW YEAR'S EVE

The minutes kept ticking
Like seconds almost
The grownups were making
A big grand toast

To a Happy New Year!
I heard them shout
I could feel the year
Coming about

Then the gong rang
Pronouncing new year
I heard them yelling
So loud and clear

They laid the food out
For the midnight feast
There was plenty to eat
To say the least

USES FOR APOLLO

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

Besides its primary goal of landing men on the moon, there are 150 other uses for the three-man Apollo spacecraft.

These are part of the Apollo Extension System (AES) which were outlined by William B. Taylor, Director of NASA's AES office, at a meeting of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

No important changes are needed in the Apollo for these missions. They could be carried out between 1968 and 1972 without interfering with the manned moon landing. In fact, some of them, such as lunar orbital missions, would even help the program toward the manned moon landing. It, in turn, will lead the way for more extensive Apollo missions.

150 Experiments
The 150 experiments include 25 on the operation of the spacecraft including space walks by some of the astronauts; 71 covering astronomy, astrophysics, biomedical and behavioral sciences, biosciences, physical sciences, meteorology, communication and navigation; 19 experiments for exploring the moon from lunar orbit; and 35 experiments for exploring the moon's surface.

With a boost from the Saturn V the Apollo could be sent into a variety of orbits around the earth and on a number of expeditions to and around the moon. It could stay up to 45 days in orbits from 115 to 22,300 miles altitude.

These orbits could range anywhere from over the equator to over the poles. With resupply from earth the Apollo could stay in these for three or more months.

Moon Exploration
Explorations of the moon would also be carried on with the AES. From a low orbit passing over the moon's poles at 28,750 to 34,500 miles the entire surface of the moon could be surveyed closely during one 28 day mission.

For a two-weeks stay on the moon an unmanned Lunar Excursion Module, called the Lem Shelter, would be set down on the moon first. Since this craft would not need to leave the moon it could carry 6,000 more pounds of supplies for the longer mission and for moon exploration.

Danny's Big Secret

By John Rankin

Danny is disappointed when he is told that he is too young and too small to go with the group looking for the lost cave. After the family is asleep he gets dressed and tiptoes out into the scary night. Meanwhile the group has reached an exciting point in their hunt.

They pushed on a little farther then and as they reached the crest of a hill Mr. Roberts pointed to a gaping hole in a great ledge over-looking the river.

Find Lost Cave
"We've found the lost cave, boys," he declared excitedly. Tinkling with excitement and enthusiasm Mel and Bob fell in behind their leader and as they neared the coveted cave the tall history teacher stopped and held out a restraining hand.

"We must watch out for any wild creature that may be lurking in there, fellows," he said with a cautious shake of his head. "So be alert and don't stray out into the brush, mind you!"

They formed a huddle then and with Mr. Roberts holding his service revolver in readiness they moved a little closer and were within a foot or so of the cave when the earth suddenly gave way under them and they plunged ten feet or more to the bottom of a musty and mildewy pit!

Trapped
Shaken up but otherwise not injured the startled explorers scrambled to their feet and, to their horror, soon learned that there was no visible means of escape from the damp and moss-grown prison!

Just then the sound of footsteps came from somewhere near the cave.

"The Indians are still here and have us trapped like a bunch of rats," Mel gasped. "And maybe burn us alive while they put on a big war dance," Bob wailed.

Mr. Roberts fumbled for his service revolver and with a sinking feeling realized he didn't have it and his face went pale and drawn.

"This is no time to panic, fellows," he said weakly. "Keep cool and maybe I can make a deal with them."

To be concluded

Let's Go Birding

By Emma Mae Leonard

Perhaps you may recall that summery day on December 22: sunny, warm, still. We had gone in search of the White-winged Crossbills in the pines not too far from Sincere and had been lavishly rewarded with activities of seventeen of them.

We decided that the day was too enticing to stop our birding with this spectacle. As we drove on toward a long lake bordered with marshes and trees, we detected a melody of the wild voices of geese. While we proceeded, we caught through the trees the sight of broken white lines across the lake. The melody volume increased.

Thousands Of Geese
Receiving permission to hike along the shore, we soon came upon an uninterrupted view of a great linear formation of thousands of Snow and Blue Geese. The melody became a tremendous clamor, an almost deafening clamor of voices of the wild.

Here was a great conclave seemingly indulging in gossip excitement and a yapping rendezvous. An elastic line of Blue Geese, with their white heads and necks shining, stretched across the far end of the lake. Ribbons of the white Snow Geese wove through the dark blanket of Blue Geese. Here and there the white geese arose and either shifted their position or dropped down into the far field for feeding.

Blue Geese followed their pattern. On the edge of the great conclave loomed a few of the larger Canada Geese.

Bald Eagle
To complete the picture of the wild, a mature Bald Eagle, its white head and white tail shining against the blue sky, flew in a regal manner over the far-stretching dark-and-white fleet

Martha, (L) the St. Bernard, Zella, the Great Dane and Kate were found by sheriff's officers two miles from home on a back road. Kate, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith McCamy, says she won't walk the dogs soon "because my feet hurt."

Mrs. Eddy Talks Of India To Pilot Club

The Jacksonville Pilot club held a dinner meeting at Hamilton's Feb. 2nd. The speaker for the evening was Mrs. Sherwood Eddy, philanthropist and world traveler, who spoke on "India—The Country and Its People."

Mrs. Eddy and her husband, the late Dr. Sherwood Eddy, visited India many times and became well acquainted with its political leaders as well as its economic and social problems.

"India," Mrs. Eddy said, "is the largest democracy in the world, having about 450 million people while the United States has only about 200 million." The average income per capita in India is about $76 which is not adequate to sustain a family and home.

Mrs. Eddy described her early experiences in the country in the days when India was struggling for her freedom from Great Britain. Her descriptions of contacts with Gandhi, Nehru and Shastri, both in working with the government while implementing charitable programs and through social engagements, were picturesque.

She went on to give an interesting sketch of Mrs. Indira Gandhi, the new Prime Minister of India, who, she said, promises to be a great leader both in India and the world.

Mrs. Eddy emphasized India's enormous population; her antiquated agricultural and industrial procedures which pose problems of enormous size. Hunger, disease, the population explosion and illiteracy are all questions which must be met by the new leader of the Congress Party, Mrs. Gandhi.

Care packages are used to provide lunches for about 7½ million school children.

Malaria, tuberculosis, and yaws, the major diseases of the country, are being treated by government clinics.

Birth control information is being disseminated to village women by the means of the "gossip train." Through the manufacture and distribution of intrauterine contraceptives, it is hoped that this problem can be alleviated.

The inhabitants of India are about 85% illiterate. Although Hindi was chosen as the national language 15 years ago, the people still speak 14 major languages.

Following Mrs. Eddy's message, a lively discussion resulted which greatly enhanced the program.

VIEW DAMAGE SCENE—Crews from Norfolk and Western railroad prepare to make repairs on the line after the derailment of the eastbound freight train, carrying 20 cars, Friday afternoon.

CRASH SCENE—Six cars and a caboose of a Norfolk and Western railroad train lie scattered along Morgan county countryside five miles west of Jacksonville Friday afternoon. Conductor Robert Whitaker, riding in the caboose, escaped injury.

Six Cars, Caboose Of Norfolk, Western Derail Near Chapin

A conductor on an eastbound Norfolk and Western freight train escaped serious injury Friday afternoon when six cars and a caboose of a 20-car train were derailed five miles west of Jacksonville.

Robert Whitaker, 49, of Decatur was taken to Passavant hospital for examination of possible injuries and later released.

He was the sole occupant of the caboose, which was knocked off the tracks when the cars hit a protruding rail that had been pushed up by the alternately freezing and thawing ground.

A wreck crew from Decatur was at the scene about seven o'clock and a spokesman for the railroad said that he expected traffic to be back to normal within 24 hours.

Three other trainmen, Donald Weiss, engineer; Jack Dunn, head brakeman and Tom Campbell, brakeman, all of Decatur, escaped injury. They were all reportedly riding in the engine.

Wreckage Strwn Along Tracks
The six cars, two of which were at the rear of the caboose, were strewn along the tracks for about a thousand feet in the Morgan county countryside.

Approximately one thousand feet of track was damaged by the derailment. One of the wheels of another car near the engine, slipped off the tracks and damaged crossties and track for an additional two thousand feet.

Railroad officials said they expected damage to run into the thousands of dollars. Two of the cars were refrigerated, carrying oranges.

The accident occurred about two miles east of Chapin, at the end of a reverse S curve on the side of a hill.

Whitaker was taken from the caboose by fellow trainmen, who notified the tower in Jacksonville. A switcher, which operates between Jacksonville and Meredosia was dispatched to the scene and took Whitaker to Chapin.

Rushed To Hospital
Whitaker was then taken to the hospital by Lowe ambulance, where he was x-rayed and released.

Telegraph and telephone lines were temporarily out of order when the caboose crashed into a utilities pole.

Five of the cars, enroute from Moberly, Mo. to Decatur, and the caboose were knocked off the tracks and a sixth car was partially off the rails.

The accident occurred about 2:30 p.m. State police and train crews were at the scene most of the afternoon.

Hoffa Tells Plan
To Organize Pros

DETROIT (AP) — Jimmie Hoffa, American Football League, apparently referring to the football players' astronomical salaries and bonuses, drew retorts of surprise from the big sports organizations. The Teamsters' president said Hoffa is embarking on a life campaign to enlist players from "baseball, football, basketball, hockey, et cetera" in a giant union.

Hoffa said a separate union division for sports would be set up by the Teamsters in the near future. He added that Harold J. Gibbons of St. Louis, a Teamsters vice-president, would direct the drive.

One of Hoffa's assistants, Charles (Chuck) O'Brien, disclosed that he had met this week with a group of Detroit Lions of the National Football League. The Lions have been reported dissatisfied over salaries.

"Why doesn't he organize corporate presidents?" said Joe Foss, commissioner of the National Football League.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, declined immediate comment. The new baseball commissioner, retired Gen. William Eckert, said he would like to study the situation before commenting.

"In my short time in baseball, I have noticed only the finest relationships between the players and owners," Eckert said.

Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Association said he knew of no tampering with NBA personnel, but he added that basketball players have their own committee to iron out complaints.

Bill Jennings, president of the New York Rangers hockey team, said the National Hockey League players had an excellent retirement plan, good wages and playing conditions.

One Teamsters Agent has been dickering with more than a dozen Detroit Lions players and owner William Clay Ford said: "We certainly aren't going to take it (organizing attempts) lightly."

Title Bout
Set March 29
In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — World heavyweight champion Cassius Clay and Ernie Terrell, designated champion by the World Boxing Association, will meet in a 15-round title bout at Chicago's International Amphitheatre Tuesday night, March 29.

The formal signing of contracts for the match was announced at a news conference Friday by copromoters Irv Schoenwald and Ben Bentley.

The March 29 date was demanded by the promoters, although Clay's camp held out for a time for either April 12 or 18.

Main Bout Inc., with Mike Malitz as spokesman, said the bout would be carried on closed-circuit television.

The Amphitheatre, in Chicago's South Side stockyards, can accommodate about 15,000.

Clay would receive 50 per cent of all receipts while Terrell would get 20 per cent across the board.

Both Clay and Terrell attended the news conference. The Louisville Lip was strangely subdued.

No Predictions

When asked for a prediction on the outcome, Clay shook his head negatively. He also refused to comment when asked what round he might knock out Terrell.

Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis sat at the signing table with the two boxers and the question was raised that since Louis formerly helped Terrell in training he would be of assistance to Clay. Louis recently was named Clay's advisor.

Terrell said "If Joe was doing the fighting I would be worried. But since he's only giving advice to Clay, I'm not worried at all."

Clay's agreement to meet Terrell was somewhat of a surprise because his Louisville-sponsored group said the bout never would be held after the refusal by the New York State Athletic Commission on Jan. 28 to grant Terrell a license.

The New York group said its action was based on the connection between Terrell and Bernie Glickman, former Chicago fight manager.

The Illinois State Athletic Commission renewed Terrell's Illinois license Thursday and said it was satisfied Terrell had severed all ties with Glickman, a booking agent for Terrell's night club act.

Neill Services
In City Friday

Funeral services for Claude L. Neill were held at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Williamson Funeral Home, Reverend William J. Boston officiating. Miss Ruth Rexroat was the organist.

Pallbearers were Oran Hymes, Arlo Schumaker, Robert Anderson, Donald Kolber, Wayne Bracewell and Odell Woodward. Burial was in Chapin cemetery.

FOUNDRY BREAK-IN

Thieves broke into the Leake Foundry late Friday night and managed to escape with three dollars in change from the cash register.

City police, who investigated at the scene about 11:15 p.m., said that a rear window to a rest room had been broken, and entrance gained through the window.
